

UNDER CONTROL BUT STILL EXPLOSIVE

2,000 ROCHESTER NEGROES BATTLE POLICE IN BLOODY NIGHTLONG RIOT

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Two thousand enraged Negroes using knives, clubs, bottles and bare fists battled police and state troopers today in a night-long orgy of rioting and looting. Police fought back with high pressure water hoses and tear gas.

Police said at 10 a.m. EDT that the situation was under control but still so explosive that it could erupt again at any moment.

At least 98 persons were injured, including 24 policemen, and more than 80 arrested, according to latest figures.

City officials declared a state of public emergency. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller mobilized National Guardsmen who were standing by at armories in this upstate city 70 miles from Buffalo.

Police sealed off the 52 block, two square mile Negro neighborhood where the rioting and looting ran rampant. They used barricades to keep the riots from spreading to other sections of the city and to prevent anyone from going into the area.

Public transportation throughout the city was halted during the night, but was resumed shortly after daybreak in all sections except the battle scene.

Arrest Triggers Rioting
The violence began as an anti-police riot when two policemen tried to arrest a Negro for intoxication at a street dance and were jumped on by several other Negroes. Crowds of young Negroes poured out of nearby dance halls and saloons and riot calls flashed throughout the city.

As word of the trouble spread, white toughs moved into the area and the situation exploded with renewed fury into a full-scale race riot.

The rioting flared in this city of 318,000 with a Negro population of 25,000 after week long disturbances in New York City which spread from the nation's largest Negro ghetto of Harlem to Negro slum areas of Brooklyn. More trouble was expected in New York City later today when Negroes were scheduled to defy a police ban and march on a Harlem police station.

City Manager Porter W. Homer appealed to Gov. Rockefeller for help. The governor ordered 200 state police into the area.

Police Chief William Lombard sped to the scene when the rioting started. Negroes mobbed his car, overturned it and set it on fire, and beat him. He was not seriously injured. Police surrounded him, battled off rioters with clubs, and took him out of the danger area.

Five fire companies were sent to the area. The Negroes chopped some of the hoses when high pressure streams were turned on them. A police dispatcher said that some of them used machetes.

Calls It "A Shambles"
Captain John Nohlen of state police troop A said the Negro neighborhood was "a shambles."

"You can't imagine that this could happen to an American city," he said. "I've never seen anything like it in my 35 years with the state police."

During the worst of the rioting police abandoned the area and retreated to the barricades set up on the perimeter of the 52 block area. Shortly after dawn, reinforced by state police, they began moving back into the area to stop looting and break up the massed Negroes into smaller groups.

They lobbed tear gas grenades into the larger gangs of marauders. So much tear gas was used that state police rushed eight more cases of gas to the scene.

Report Shotgun Blasts
There were reports of shotgun blasts in the area during the hours-long rioting. But it was not determined whether police had fired riot guns or whether their revolver were holstered. They were under orders not to use their guns unless

Attacked Cardinal

Church Transfers Civil Rights Priest

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Rev. William H. DuBay who asked Pope Paul VI to remove James Francis Cardinal McIntyre for alleged failure to lead in the racial crisis, has been transferred to a church in Orange County.

Msgr. Benjamin J. Hawkes, chancellor of the Los Angeles

Archdiocese, said yesterday that 29-year-old Father DuBay has been assigned as an assistant at St. Boniface parish in Anaheim, Calif., since his return from a vacation.

Father DuBay, whose Compton, Calif., parish of St. Albert's The Great Church was predominantly Negro, criticized Cardinal McIntyre for having "no open policy on civil rights."

In his letter to the Pope, the sandy-haired priest said Cardinal McIntyre refused to take a stand against segregation and admit there was a "moral issue" involved.

The Cardinal remained silent throughout the controversy. But an official church publication, "The Tidings," criticized Father DuBay editorially and said the archbishop had exerted leadership on racial issues.

Father DuBay met with chancery officials. He subsequently was reported to have made obeisance to the Cardinal in an age-old church ceremony in which he knelt before the Cardinal and kissed the prelate's ring. The priest then went on his annual retreat, followed by a vacation and reassignment.

Hoffa Jury Still Out

CHICAGO (UPI) — A jury of eight women and four men began its second day of deliberations today in the $25 million pension fraud trial of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and six co-defendants.

The jury, eight of them union members, was to resume deliberations at 9:30 a.m. CDT (10:30 a.m. EDT.)

The jury began deliberations Friday after a 13-week trial. A Sunday session also was scheduled should the jury fail to reach a verdict today.

U. S. District Court Judge Richard B. Austin gave the jury 147 possible guilty verdicts and 147 possible verdicts of innocent. He told the jurors to return with 147 verdicts signed.

The Justice Department accused Hoffa and the co-defendants of using fraud to obtain $25 million in loans from the Central, Southeast and Southwest conferences of Teamster pensions funds. The government said they diverted $1.7 million of it for their own use, which much of the money being used to save the Sun Valley Teamster retirement haven.

Charged along with Hoffa were Benjamin Dranow, 57, imprisoned former owner of the John W. Thomas department store, Minneapolis, Minn.; Dranaw's ex-partner, Abe I. Weiblat, 68, Miami Beach, Fla.; S. George Burris, New York, an accountant; Samuel Hyman, (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

'All Hell Could Break Loose'

Racial Peace Comes To N.Y. But New Troubles Threaten

NEW YORK (UPI) — Racial peace came to New York City for the first time in a week last night. But new troubles threatened today when Negroes vowed to ignore a police ban on a march on a Harlem police precinct.

"All hell could break loose this weekend," a high police official said. The city's 27,000-man police force was put on standby alert and even police clerks were told to come to work wearing uniforms.

Sporadic rainfall helped cool tempers, giving the city its first breather in a week of rioting. Police said Harlem is quieter than normal for a Friday night.

Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy, describing the sponsors of this afternoon's scheduled march as advocates of "violence and disorder," issued an order banning the demonstration. He said the Harlem Defense Council, which called the demonstration, "proclaims their doctrines openly and defiantly."

Murphy's action was denounced by a group of 95 Negroes representing 59 civil rights and community organizations. But they asked the council to go along with the ban.

"We demand you rescind the act and reprimand the commissioner, the Negroes said in a telegram to Mayor Robert F. Wagner. They also asked for a meeting with him today.

The group presented four demands, including the appointment of a Negro as deputy police commissioner and the suspension of police Lt. Thomas Gilligan, who shot and killed a 15-year-old Negro boy last week. This action was believed to have triggered the rioting. Gilligan, now on sick leave, said the boy attacked him with a knife. Witnesses' testimony differed on that point and a grand jury, investigating the shooting, was expected to meet again Monday.

Would Harm NATO And -

LBJ Says De Gaulle's Policies Would Aid Communists In Asia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson says French President Charles de Gaulle is proposing policies that would reward Communist aggression in Asia and weaken the NATO alliance in Europe.

Johnson told a news conference yesterday that De Gaulle's call for a new international conference on Southeast Asia to end the war in Viet Nam would be a meeting that could only "ratify terror."

"If those who practice terror and ambush and murder will simply honor their existing agreements, there can easily be peace in Southeast Asia immediately," the President said in a prepared statement at the opening of the conference.

Pushes Point

Johnson also went out of his way to reply to De Gaulle's charges Thursday that the United States wanted to dominate the European continent and that European nations must work together to free themselves of this "domination."

Rather than wanting to run Europe, Johnson said the United States had "constantly supported the strengthening of the free nations of Europe. We have never supposed that any European country would need to choose between its ties to the United States and its ties to Europe."

Johnson, who for months has told his aides he hoped to play down policy differences with De Gaulle and try to relieve the strains between the United States and France through diplomatic channels, obviously felt the French leader had gone too far in pressing his program for European unification and Asian neutralization.

Sharp Rebuke

The President's sharply worded rebuke of De Gaulle's policies was the strongest reply to the general's diplomatic proposals in months. Although the suggestions are not new, the United States always has rejected them in much milder language. However, this time Johnson evidently considered the challenge too strong to be ignored.

There also was feeling among some of the President's top aides that De Gaulle was taking advantage of U. S. domestic politics to further his campaign of reducing U. S. influence in Europe and bolstering his argument that the United States would not stick with its Allies in a nuclear showdown with Russia.

No Watering

Zweig urged Laurel Bend residents not to park their cars on streets after 8 a.m. and not to water their lawns tomorrow evening or Monday since a wet surface on or near the street would impede resurfacing progress.

"Please keep children away from the streets for safety's sake," he urged. He also asked residents to stay off the road surface until the job is finished and for motorists to avoid spinning car wheels on newly-surfaced streets.

The week's resurfacing schedule:

Monday — (Laurel Bend) — Green Ave., from Woodlawn to Brookside; Brookside, from Bath Road to dead end; Woodlawn Drive, from Bath Road to Brookside Ave.

Tuesday — Mill Drive in Mill Creek Falls section of Levittown.

Wednesday — Plumbridge Drive, Levittown.

Thursday — Lakeland Ave., from Beaver Dam Road to Bath Road; River Road, from State Road to the first bend.

Road Work Set In Twp.

Bristol Township road crews Monday will begin resurfacing streets, starting in the Laurel Bend section.

Township Manager Ronald Zweig today announced the resurfacing schedule for next week, and at the same time, urged residents and motorists to cooperate with the highway department crews.

He said notices on streets to be paved will be delivered to residents the day before their streets are to be done. In the event of rain, the schedule will be set back a day.

7,000 Teeners Riot In Ballroom

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI)—Seven thousand screaming teen-agers rioted in Blackpool ballroom Friday night when Keith Richards, a guitar player in a rock 'n' roll group known as "The Rolling Stones," stopped strumming, swung his guitar, and threatened to "bash someone" in the audience who had been spitting at him.

Teen-agers swarmed all over the stage, routing Richards and four other "Rolling Stones" and demolishing an estimated $5,600 worth of amplifiers and drums.

Someone called police reinforcements who used nightsticks to quell the youthful assault force.

Officials said two policemen and 30 dancers were injured in the melee. Four youths were arrested and charged with assault.

Richards and the rest of the Rolling Stones, Britain's No. 2 rock 'n' roll group behind the more popular but less shaggy Beatles, escaped by climbing over the roof.

It was the wildest battle of the year at Blackpool, a summer seaside resort 228 miles northwest of London that bills itself as Britain's "Coney Island."

Nikita Charts 5-Yr. Program

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, who predicted last week that Soviet production would surpass that of the United States by 1970, met with his economic planners yesterday to chart the five-year economic plan that ends this year.

The current seven-year plan ends in 1965 and the next plan takes over from there. Khrushchev said that in the final year of the 1966-1970 plan, Soviet production would outstrip that of the United States, giving the Russians an important victory in the economic struggle with capitalism.

LBJ Turns Down Civil Rights Election 'Truce' With Barry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, in a preview of the fall political campaign, yesterday sharply outlined his disagreement with Sen. Barry Goldwater over civil rights, nuclear weapons control and crime in the streets.

Although tempering his words with a slight smile, Johnson emphasized the gulf between his administration and the Republican presidential nominee during a news conference in which he gave detailed answers to questions arising from the Republican National Convention last week and the Arizona lawmaker's acceptance speech.

Johnson made it clear that he expected civil rights to play an important part in the campaign and that he considered the issue a legitimate question to be raised between candidates. "Now, to the extent that Sen. Goldwater differs from these views, or the Republican party differs, there will, of course, be discussion," Johnson said. "I intend to carry on some of it, if I am a candidate."

Asked About Right

Asked if his White House meeting with Goldwater after the conference was aimed at removing civil rights from the campaign, Johnson said:

"I do not believe that any issue which is before the people can be eliminated from the campaign in a free society in an election year."

Following the 16-minute meeting, the White House issued a terse statement saying that both Johnson and Goldwater had agreed "incitement of racial tensions" should be avoided during the campaign.

During the conference, Johnson challenged Goldwater and his followers to rebuke "bigots and those who seek to excite and exploit racial tensions."

Johnson also disagreed with the Goldwater suggestion that the commander of the North Atlantic Treaty forces be given the power to decide to use small nuclear weapons. The President said he was convinced that the American people want this power over use of nuclear weapons to be vested only in a civilian.

President Is Responsible
"They do not expect to abandon this duty to military men in the field," he said. "I believe that the final responsibility for all decisions on nuclear weapons must rest with the civilian head of this government—the President of the United States."

Johnson also aimed a barb at Goldwater's convention comments deploring violence in the streets.

The federal government is cooperating with state and city authorities to prevent violence, Johnson said, but it could not assume authority that was vested in the states. "I seem to have read and heard that other people, too, are opposed to the federal government usurping the rights of the states."

Johnson made these other points:

—Announced development of a "major new strategic manned aircraft system" to be used by the Strategic Air Command. The new plane, the SR71, will be used for long range reconnaissance and is the "most advanced in the world," Johnson said.

Able to fly at three times the speed of sound, the SR71, Johnson said, will operate at altitudes "in excess of 80,000 feet."

The net income per farm rose from $2,960 in 1960 to $3,504 in 1963, a rise of more than 18 per cent.

—During the last fiscal year which ended June 30, farm exports were at a record level and were valued at $6,151,000,000.

—Firmly rejected French President Charles de Gaulle's new call for an international conference on Southeast Asia. He said the United States does not want "a conference called to ratify terror." In a wide-ranging comment on points De Gaulle made at his Paris news conference Thursday, Johnson also rejected the idea that the United States was dominating Europe.

—Declared that the world is less dangerous now and the United States is stronger. But he emphasized that his administration will continue to work for peace.

—Said the administration would continue to work for "a sound and effective answer" to problems in relation to Latin American countries. He said a "highly successful" meeting of the alliance for progress nations had just been completed.

—Replied to a question about statements that Communists were involved in New York City's racial disturbances that he was not yet ready to discuss FBI reports he had received daily, but it was his impression that "extremists elements" were involved.

—Said regarding South Viet Nam that increased provocation by Communist North Viet Nam could widen the fighting but that "the United States seeks no wider war."

Sanctions Probable

Anti-Cuba Steps Planned By OAS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 20-nation Organization of American States (OAS) was prepared today to punish the regime of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro for aggression against Venezuela.

Diplomatic sources said 15 nations, two more than the necessary majority, were lined up in favor of economic and diplomatic sanctions against Cuba. They also supported measures designed to halt the spread of subversion from the Caribbean island.

The sources said Chile and Mexico planned to oppose the sanctions, and Bolivia and Uruguay were expected to abstain from the voting. The four nations are the only OAS members still maintaining diplomatic relations with the Castro regime.

Venezuela, the 20th member, is ineligible to vote because of its involvement in the issue.

Chilean Foreign Minister Julio Philippi and Mexican OAS Ambassador Vincente Sanchez

Gavito were scheduled to explain their nations' opposition in speeches before the ministers in today's session. Mexico did not send its foreign minister to the meeting.

Friday, the ministers dropped a plan to choke off Cuba's last remaining airline link with the rest of Latin America in order to win greater support for the other sanctions against the regime. The air route is between Havana and Mexico City.

The ministers also altered the wording of a proposed sanction ordering all OAS nations to break diplomatic relations with Cuba. In its new form, the resolution keeps the same meaning, but orders the OAS members "not to maintain" relations with Cuba.

The action brought Argentina and Peru into the majority of OAS foreign ministers who are supporting the proposals for collective, hemispheric suspensions of trade, shipping and diplomatic relations with the Caribbean island.

$150,000 Missing

Fare Collector, But Not Fair Collector

WAUKESHA, Wis. (UPI)—It was the end of the line today for fare collector Charles J. McCormick. The bus company accused him of pocketing $150,000 in small change.

McCormick, 62, who picked up fares from drivers at the end of their runs, admitted to police he took $30,000. He was charged formally with theft of $8,000 in a recent period.

McCormick earned $85 a week as an employee of the transport company.

McCormick's trouble started July 16 when a fellow employee saw him empty change into his pocket from a bag he used for picking up fares from drivers at the end of bus and trolley runs.

Police said a search of McCormick's modest two-story home at nearby Hartland turned up more than $5,000 in a change stored in cans and containers.

Detective Charles Littmann, one of the officers who arrested McCormick, said the fare collector's home recently was air-conditioned and that a garage and breezeway had been added. Both McCormick and his wife drove late model cars, the officer said.

McCormick is under a court order today barring him from disposing of his assets. Circuit Judge William Gramling issued the temporary restraining order earlier this week. A hearing on the matter is scheduled for Monday.

The Milwaukee Transport Company said in seeking the order it believed McCormick actually took up to $150,000 rather than just the $30,000 he has admitted pocketing. It said it bled its estimate on bus and trolley business projections on the routes where McCormick picked up fares.

Debate Monday

Senators Take Weekend Look At Income Disclosure Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senators, having wrought a new special committee to police themselves, took a long weekend today to consider whether they should expose their personal finances to public scrutiny.

The Senate put off until Monday debate on a resolution that would require members and certain Senate employees to disclose their major sources of outside income.

The proposal — and an even more sweeping financial disclosure plan being advanced by liberal senators — arose from the members of the Bobby Baker case.

In a surprise action Friday, the Senate voted 58 to 33 to create a special six-member bipartisan committee empowered to investigate and recommend disciplinary action in possible future cases of unethical conduct by members or Senate employees.

The vote came as the Senate launched a free-swinging debate, with strong pre-campaign overtones, on two resolutions recommended by its Rules Committee.

The resolutions dealing with the complicated issues of financial disclosure and investigation of members' activities were the outgrowth of the panel's seven-month inquiry into the outside business ventures of Baker, one-time secretary to Senate Democrats.

The Senate later affirmed the action on the Cooper proposal by approving, 61 to 19, the committee resolution which by then included the Cooper rider.

Two Charges

Ex-Boxer Is Held In Lopinson Case

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Francis Phelan, 26, a former prize fighter, was held without bail today on two charges of homicide in the "execution" slayings of a man and a woman in the office of a center city restaurant last June 19.

Mrs. Judy Lopinson, 25, and Joseph Malito, 52, both were shot several times through the head shortly after the bar-restaurant closed. The woman's husband, Jack, 27, a business partner of Malito, has been indicted in the slayings.

Phelan was held after Fernando Fala, 29, also a former boxer, of Havertown, Pa., testified that Phelan has told him "three or four times" that he committed the murders and "had $10,000 coming."

Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard Sprague asked Fala if Phelan had said it was Lopinson who owed him the money. Fala said Phelan has not mentioned Lopinson in that connection but had praised him for not talking when the police "had him downtown for three days."

Fala, Phelan and two other men were arrested Thursday in the beating of a policeman as he entered a private club to warn bartenders of the approaching closing time. The officer, Charles Deabler, 32, was in fair condition at Philadelphia General Hospital today with multiple bruises and chest injuries.

Investigators on the case termed the slaying of Mrs. Lopinson and Malito an "execution" because each was shot with two different pistols at close range through the head.

5,000 Rochester Negroes In Riot

they had to in order to save their lives.

Earlier this week in New York City, police fired thousands of rounds of warning shots to break up rioting Negroes. Streets were littered with paper, broken glass from smashed store windows and bottles, and other debris. Clothing store dummies were sprawled grotesquely on sidewalks, their clothing ripped off.

As police moved back into the area, hundreds of angry Negroes milled about. Every few minutes a team of policemen broke into a run to chase looters who were still sporadically stealing merchandise from the damaged stores. Other Negroes jeered and yelled obscenities at the policemen.

Negro Families Flee
Many Negro families in the area had fled during the night to safer quarters.

Joseph Mazzeo, manager of the Emerson Western New York Inc., said rioters smashed into his company's warehouse and carried off hundreds of television sets and hi-fi radios. He estimated damage at $500,000.

"Anything they couldn't carry they broke," he said.

Police said that hoodlums, both white and Negro, took advantage of the rioting during the night and broke into and looted stores in other sections of the city — but that looting was not widespread.

GM made its presentation yesterday and called for five changes in the present contract. The industry giant charged the no-strike clause has been "seriously abused."

Woman Hurt In Collision

A Levittown woman was injured yesterday afternoon when her car was in collision with another vehicle at Hood and Olds Blvds., Fairless Hills.

Falls Township police reported that Mrs. Helen Stocker 50, of 34 Bald Cypress Lane, Birch Valley, Levittown, was taken to Delaware Valley Hospital by the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad and was released after treatment and X-rays.

The driver of the other car was identified by police as Christopher Sauerby, 18, of 604 Hill Ave., Langhorne.

Negro Families Flee
Many Negro families in the area had fled during the night to safer quarters.

Joseph Mazzeo, manager of the Emerson Western New York Inc., said rioters smashed into his company's warehouse and carried off hundreds of television sets and hi-fi radios. He estimated damage at $500,000.

"Anything they couldn't carry they broke," he said.

Police said that hoodlums, both white and Negro, took advantage of the rioting during the night and broke into and looted stores in other sections of the city — but that looting was not widespread.

GM made its presentation yesterday and called for five changes in the present contract. The industry giant charged the no-strike clause has been "seriously abused."

Meet The Addams Family

Something For Boys And Ghouls

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Charles Addams' macabre cartoon characters from the slick pages of the sophisticated New Yorker magazine are coming to life this fall on ABC television screens.

The idea is being viewed by many programming experts as both hazardous and delicate.

David Levy, the man behind it all, admits to the delicacy of his task as the executive producer of The Addams family but hazardous is a word he refuses to buy.

He is confident the characters will be a hit, as popular in the mass medium of television as they have been for the last 30 years on the pages of The New Yorker.

"We have made them full-bodied people, not monsters," he explains. "They are not grotesque and hideous manifestations. I'll admit that they are bizarre but they are not weird. At the same time we are protecting the images of Mr. Addams' children as he refers to them. We are living up to the spirit of his cartoons. He is more than just a cartoonist. He's a social commentator and a great wit."

* * *

As David Levy talks about the project, two years in the building, he sits coatless behind his desk and you notice that this former NBC-TV program chief is a man who does not believe in taking risky chances.

He wears both belt and suspenders on his trousers.

Yet "risky" is the word you hear in other quarters about the project of turning Addams' ghouls into a home screen family and giving them, as Levy promises, "the same problems of a typical American family."

To this talk he shrugs:

"I believe viewers will identify with the characters because people usually like to think they are different. No, we won't try to explain their ghoulish appearances. The bizarre quality comes only from the way they live, in high luxury."

* * *

Oddly, cartoonist Addams never This he has now done for the TV show with Carolyn Jones starred as the slinky lady in black, Morticia. Her husband will be Gomez (John Astin). Their children will answer to the names of Wednesday and Pugsley. Lurch (played by Ted Cassidy, an ex-Dallas radio announcer) will be their 6-foot-9-inch butler. Jackie Coogan will be around as Uncle Fester and Blossom Rock (who beat Addams to a tricky name) will be Granny.

* * *

Often approached about the idea, Addams always said "no" to a series for his characters until Levy discussed the idea with him. "We hit it off fine together at our first meeting," Levy explains, "because we discovered we were on the same wave length."

Addams just may have noticed Levy's belt and suspender combination, too, and recognized him as the man for the "risky" project.

TV Seeks Family With 16 Children

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mothers and fathers, do you have 16 kids or more.

If so, you may star on a television program with your entire brood. That is, if you don't mind a television camera crew following you around and tromping through your house for a week.

What's more, David Wolper Productions will throw in $5,000 for your troubles.

Wolper, who specializes in video documentaries, wants to show televiewers that a family of 18 or 20 can live a normal, if somewhat hectic life. The famed Beardsley family of Carmel is disqualified because of commercial tie-ups with a variety of interests.

Says Wolper: "We've checked with the Bureau of the Census and were told that there are many families with 16 or more children, but the bureau isn't allowed to give us their names."

Producer Wolper has rigid qualifications for the family program.

* * *

First, all the children and their parents must be living under one roof.

Second, ages are unimportant although he'd like to have the offspring range from infancy to 20 years old.

Third, the kids can be adopted, natural children, or a combination of both. They don't even have to be from a single marriage. That is to say, if either or both parents were previously married and had children who are now living with the new spouse, okay.

"We want to find out how a family stores 18 to 20 toothbrushes," Wolper said. "And how do you go about setting a table for a mob like that. How does the wife handle the washing? How does the husband handle the finances?"

* * *

"We think viewers will be interested in seeing everyday problems telescoped into gigantic proportions. It could be a very charming program.

Wolper is having difficulty locating families of 18 or 20 persons and requests such households to write to him at: Wolper Productions, 8720 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles.

"If we come up with several possibilities, we'll select the family that we think is most typical of large households," he said.

* * *

"Our cameras will follow them for about a week. And it doesn't matter whether the family lives in New England, the South, the Midwest or wherever. There was a time when big families were common, perhaps our show will demonstrate why there are fewer families with 16 or more children than there used to be."

In addition to the $5,000 cash, Wolper feels the publicity the family receives will reflect credit on the parents and children.

Wolper and his wife have only two children themselves. But he adds, "we hope to have four or five."

Patricia Barry Can Dish Up Success

Ieda Maria Vargas To Bid Farewell To Crown

By JOAN CROSBY

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Patricia Barry, a red-headed beauty and one of television's busiest actresses, was explaining why she had agreed to appear in a series next season.

"The thing is I love Jack Klugman, and when they told me he was going to be in the series, it helped me decide. Of course, later I found they had told him I was going to be in the series, and that's what helped him decide."

The NBC series is something new in programming. The over-all title is "90 Bristol Court," and it consists of three separate but interwoven comedies, with "Karen," "Tom, Dick, and Mary" and PAT BARRY: Needed, some time with the children.

"Harris Against the World." In an enganging bit of television whimsy, all the people involved live at the same Southern California bungalow court. So there will be an occasional overlapping of actors, as "aren" spills into "Tom, Dick and Mary," and "Harris" takes on his neighbors as well as the world.

It's "Harris Against the World" that will occupy Emmy Award winner Klugman and Patricia Barry. And she has rationalized herself right into believing a television series will allow her to spend more time with her family.

Patric (that's what she likes to be called) is married to producer Philip Barry Jr., and is the mother of two girls, 13 and six.

"The children are at an age where they need some of my time. I can do this show like ordering groceries. There will be a regular shooting schedule, the same hair-dresser, the same director, the same studie. This kind of a schedule takes less out of you. You can play your time. You know when you will have days off. And if there are special things at school I must attend, they can write me out of a script."

Another beautiful girl made a brief visit to New York — Ieda (pronounced Yedda) Maria Vargas, Miss Universe 1963.

QUEEN VARGAS: Farewell to the crown.

On August 1, when CBS telecasts the stylized ritual which leads to a new Miss Universe, Ieda Maria will take off her crown, head for her native Brazil, get married and retire from public life.

You get the idea that Miss Vargas will be very glad to have not only the CBS eye but also the public eye looking in another girl's direction. You also get the idea that this tall girl is a very tired 20-year-old.

HOPE'S FIRST

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bob Hope's first starring appearance on his video series next season will be in the role of a marriage broker in the old west with Jill St. John, Rhonda Fleming and Marilyn Maxwell.

UNIVERSAL BUSY

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — In the first six months of 1964 Universal studios started production on an even dozen movies, more than it produced in all of 1963.

All-American Gal MacRae Loves Playing All-American Gal Sally

By ISOBEL ASHE

HOLLYWOOD, — Meredith MacRae is a real all-American girl type. She plays a real all-American can girl type in her role of Sally on "My Three Sons" on ABC television every Thursday night.

And she thinks this is the ideal life for a girl — being an actress, getting paid for it, of course, and being surrounded by men throughout her work day.

"I'm typical, aren't I?" she says logically. "The fellows are too; I get a lot of ribbing on the set from the boys."

"But when you come from a family of four children, if you haven't learned to swing with it by my age, forget it. It's a lost cause!"

Meredith is, as most newspaper readers know by now the daughter of Gordon and Sheila MacRae.

A few years ago she started her career by appearing with her parents summertimes in various musical shows they were doing around the country.

In the winter, she attended the University of California at Los Angeles.

And then one day she learned Don Fedderson, producer of "My Three Sons," was looking for a girl to become a regular cast member on the series.

"And after that experience, I began believing in one's subconscious," she laughs recollecting the anecdote.

It seems Fedderson didn't connect the youngster's last name with that of her parents. Rather, he was questioning her about her views on careers versus marriage and she blurted out, "Well, it didn't hurt my mother any," and when Federson asked "Who's your mother?" Meredith was so determined to make it on her own, she gave Sheila's maiden name of Stevens.

She nervously corrected the mistake; she and Fedderson had a big laugh and out of it, Meredith had a big contract.

Last year she contracted to appear in 17 episodes, and because the romance between her and Tim Considine has been so well received by viewers of "My Three Sons," she will appear in 19 of the programs this season.

"As I understand it," Meredith says, "it's going to be a very long engagement. We became engaged on the show last Thanksgiving, and this year we'll start planning the wedding."

"But we still haven't set a date. Television movies showily, you know."

So does Meredith in her own personal life. She has been dating a young man named Rick Berger for four years. They officially announced their engagement on July 6 and plan to marry in 1965.

"I am not one of these head-in-the clouds girls who say you can't combine a career with marriage. Because I've seen a classic example of how it can be, and is done, in my own home."

"My parents have been married for 21 years; they've raised us kids quite well, I think, and we've never felt neglected or brushed aside because our folks were working."

"In fact, if they didn't work as much as they do, I'm sure our lives wouldn't be quite as comfortable as they are," she says practically.

She was practical enough to take advantage of her mother's being out of town a great deal to take over some of the housekeeping chores from their regular housekeeper.

"I work with our accountant paying the bills, and I do all the marketing for the house, and I'm not going to be some starry-eyed bride who can't boil water when Rick and I get married."

Her fiancé, also graduated from UCLA, is now working for his degree as a Certified Public Accountant.

"And you can just bet I'd better know how to handle the household books, with a watchdog like that around," she laughs.

She's honest enough to admit, however, that a year ago she wasn't quite that shrewd.

"Gosh, I got the part on 'My Three Sons,' and I was getting a regular salary and I just went wild. Literally."

"Sure my parents had given me an allowance when I was at school and living at the sorority house

Veteran William Frawley (Bob) gets an affectionate kiss from Meredith MacRae (Sally) after she announced that she and Tim Considine (Mike) are engaged on ABC-TV's "My Three Sons."

(Delta, Delta, Delta,) but this was money I had earned. All my own.

"And I decided I should help keep California green. Primarily the shops of Beverly Hills, with my green money."

"Well, you know what happened. I came up broke. And brought myself up short, realizing it wasn't very practical. I've got a great wardrobe, but it's all last year's clothes I'll be wearing for awhile."

"Now I save thirty per cent of my gross income — not net, and it's a very comforting feeling. I might even investigate the stock market in another few years." Her blue-green eyes glittered at the prospect.

Meanwhile, that great wardrobe of which Meredith boasts belongs partly to her and partly to the studio where she films "My Three Sons."

It seems that the producer and director felt her own clothes were ideal for the role of Sally — that typical all-American girl, remember? — so they asked if she'd mind wearing her own clothes.

"I was so nervous about a steady job, I figured there might be a feeling of security if I wore my own things — like that security blanket in the comic strip, you know?"

"But then it got to be a bit of a problem. I'd have a date with

SUSPENSE THRILLER

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Warner Bros. is teaming Dean Jones and Connie Stevens, both associated with light comedy, in the suspense thriller "Two On A Guillotine."

Local Singers In TV Hootenanny

mer, Ann Leyland and Marion Lombard. In back are Howard Leyland, Andy Hober and Dick Weed. (Courier-Times Photo)

Four guitars, one banjo and one harmonica, along with six members of the Lower Bucks County Folk Song Society, last night appeared on "Musical," a program aired on WHYY-TV (Channel 12), Wilmington, Del.

The 30-minute show was videotaped this week.

Beginning with the musical version of the entire history of "Old Smokey," the performers did an Israeli folk song, two versions of "Banks of the Ohio," "Pastures of Plenty," and "Pretty Polly."

Although some of the society members have made television appearances in the past, the show was a first for members as a group. They perform frequently in the area at meetings, in coffee houses and for school groups.

One of the society members, Mrs. Ann Leyland, known professionally as Ann Darling, was the star of a recent weekly radio program of folk music.

Guitar teacher Marion Lombard was instrumental in forming the society and has given lessons to all of the members.

Formed two years ago, society members meet the first and third Wednesday of each month "just for the pleasure of meeting friends and the fun of a hootenanny." Sessions are held in the Tiger House, Trenton Road, Fallsington.

What Makes A Show Run So Long?

By MICHAEL H. DANN
Written For United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is generally accepted in the industry that program executives concern themselves only with new shows, and that the old ones are left to grow, like Topsy. Actually, the CBS television network, which always has had the majority of big name stars, concerns itself more often with the old than with the new.

This could be the reason why CBS has more long-running shows.

What makes a show run so long? It's not as easy as you would think. But there's a reason for longevity.

First, the basic ingredients must be there: A fine cast, skillful writing, production and direction and believability.

But you don't stop there. You don't launch Ed Sullivan, "Gunsmoke," "Lassie," "Rawhide," "The Defenders," "The Nurses," "Perry Mason" and others down through the years and just say: "Okay, viewers, these shows are smash hits. Not let's turn to something else."

The secret of the continuing success of these shows is the fact that they have not been allowed to stagnate. We have had the audacity to tamper with success, as it were, and in most cases this had paid off.

A couple of seasons ago, it was decided to expand television's most popular Western, "Gunsmoke," to a full hour. While it could have gone on indefinitely as a tremendously successful half-hour program, we decided that the half-hour Western would probably require change in the near future.

Viewers wanted more story, more time to see the characters develop, more dramatic motivation. So the decision was made. "Gunsmoke" went to 60 minutes — and after two years in the hour format the program still shows up in Nielsen's top 15.

Ed Sullivan's success can be traced to an audacious spirit — the refusal to stand pat. Ed constantly makes changes, and his willingness to change, to present something different, keeps his show on top.

Recently CBS decided that "Rawhide" needed a new approach, something to set it apart from a routine, weekly Western drama. Next season a number of "star vehicles" will be incorporated in the series. Rita Hayworth is the first big name to be signed for this new "Rawhide" concept.

A big star in an important part will give the program a new dimension. Writers will have more freedom, more flexibility, and not be tied to one format.

Since "The Nurses" started two years ago it has attracted a large and sizeable audience. Women of all ages have embraced it in great numbers. But, here again, a change was ordered. The right kind of change, at the right time, is the life blood of any series and plans have been put into action to make "The Nurses" even more exciting and meaningful.

We are adding two male leads who will appear on a regular basis next season — Michael Tolan and Joseph Campanella. This new approach should increase the program's appeal, not only by the presence of the leading men, but because the stories will be able to be directed towards this new masculine aspect.

In line with this, we plan to have far more stories of straight drama and even comedy — which has been done occasionally and successfully in the past. There is a whole new avenue of romance, mystery and adventure to which the program will be oriented.

We will have some two-part stories specifically in the dramatic area, and active attention is being paid to the real possibility of starting a two-part story on "The Nurses" and ending it on "The Defenders." The show may also move outside the hospital more often, giving us greater scope.

Building upon an already established basis of excellence, these new dimensions will lead us towards freshness, excitement and even broader appeal while at the same time preserving those values that have made "The Nurses" a success.

All-American Gal MacRae

Plays All-American Gal On 'My Three Sons'

Rick and my favorite dress would be at the studio.

"So I'd have to sign it out, like a book from the library, and be ever so careful not to get stains on it during dinner."

Another minor problem is that Meredith can never clean out her closet regularly.

The unique terms of Fred MacMurray's contract on "My Three Sons" provide that all his scenes are shot during one 12-week period.

He is then free to make movies, or take off on vacation.

Meanwhile, the rest of the cast including Meredith, William Frawley, Tim Considine, Don Grady and Stanley Livingston continue working on the show.

"So that little green shirtmaker I wore last March might turn up in scenes next December, let's say.

"The script girl and wardrobe woman remind me that I'd worn it and to please bring it in next week to work.

"I tell you, it's a complicated facet to my life," she laughs.

Complications notwithstanding, Meredith is entirely tranquil with her current way of life. "Last year I was a meek little mouse, scared to death of everything and every-

"And they all teased me until I came out of it. Like when Director Gene Reynolds wanted me on the set, he'd say 'Get the girl.' And Tim would call me 'Movie Stars' kid."

"My dressing room isn't what you'd call luxurious, even for a horse. It's not a stall so much as it is a box with 5x5 canvas sides, up some rickety stairs.

"Well, last year when they'd call me for a scene, I'd charge down those steps like a missile. Until finally the hairdresser said quietly one day, 'Don't run, Walk. You aren't a herd of cattle.'

"So now I walk. It's little things like these you learn; they add poise I guess, and you feel—more like a person.

"I certainly don't feel like a star—wonder what they do feel like anyway?"—she paused ruminatively.

"But I do feel like an actress because I know I've learned so much in the past year. It's been like any new job: I had to learn it and be sure of what I was doing.

"And I'd like to continue acting for the next four or five years. It'll be fun to see where I get.

"So let's say I do make it as a star. So what? It can't last forever, stars are unhappy because they have no other life. 'I'm going to

Ask TV Scout

YOU CAN'T WIN — Why doesn't Garry Moore give Dorothy Louden more of a break? She is as cute as a bug's ear. So is Durward Kirby. The two of them make his show. Please, where may I write them? — Mrs. Marie L. Owen, Hood River, Ore.

Both Dorothy and Durward consider Garry as one of their biggest champions. He used them as often as he was able on his Tuesday evening CBS-TV show. But it was up to the producer and director to make the final decision as to how much time the two would be on the program, which incidentally won't be on the air next season. Write the two at CBS-TV, 485 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

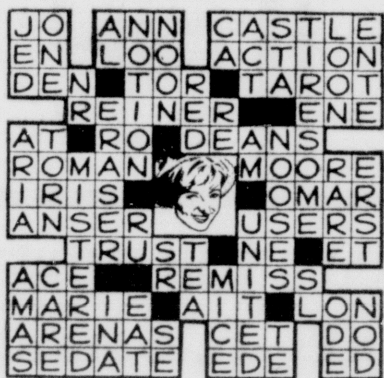

YEAH! YEAH! YEAH! — I don't think I can live through the summer unless I can see The Beatles on television again. Please, please ask Ed Sullivan to put them on his show once more. — Ruth L., Boston, Mass.

Your dreams have been answered. Sullivan is repeating two shows on which the boys appeared. Look for them on Aug. 23, and Sept. 20.
